THE ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF ACT MENTAL HEALTH CONSUMER NETWORK'S BOARD

This document outlines some of the responsibilities members agree to take on when joining the Network's Board. In particular the document outlines the roles of the office bearers: Chair, Deputy Chair, Secretary and Treasurer.

The first part of the document contains the sections on roles of the Board and its office bearers in the Network's Constitution. The duties specified in this part of the document are specific to the Network. The second part of the document holds more general comments on the role of board members and office bearers taken from ACTCOSS' Organisations Information Kit (www.actcoss.org.au/oik/index.html), which is a useful resource for aspiring and current Committee/ Board members.

The information contained in this document is only a brief guideline and not a full description of the practical duties of Board members. Current and aspiring are also always welcome to make an appointment to speak to the executive officer about the roles, responsibilities and expectations, which are associated with being a member of the Network's Board.

- Work within delegations
- Manage external relationships
- Represent the organisation on a day-to-day basis

2. Responsibilities of the Chair - new legal requirements

Both the Board/Committee and the Chair have certain general obligations and responsibilities that they owe to the organisation for which they are responsible. These include:

- taking reasonable steps to ensure compliance with relevant laws;
- not improperly using their position;
- acting in good faith; and

- acting with a degree of care that a reasonable person sitting on the board would act with in the circumstances.

In February 2003 the Supreme Court of NSW agreed with the case put by the Australian Securities and Investments Commission (ASIC) that certain Chairs have responsibilities beyond those of other board directors, in certain circumstances. These involve overseeing adequate processes to enable the Board 'to properly and effectively discharge its supervisory role'.

In the case, the Court held that the Chair of the company under consideration had certain special responsibilities beyond those of non-executive directors.

These special responsibilities include:

- being more active and vigilant with respect to the organisation's financial circumstances, particularly in times of financial difficulty;
- ensuring that the board (or management committee) are properly informed about all relevant matters, in particular, financial matters and issues concerning the organisation's debtors and creditors and other information relevant to potential financial difficulties;
- ensuring that the board adequately, properly and promptly understand and address serious financial concerns of the organisation, if they arise; and
- personally assessing the quality, reliability and timeliness of information provided to the board, particularly where it concerns the organisation's deteriorating financial position.

Hence, the decision may generally suggest that current community standards now expect a Chair to have wider responsibilities when sitting on a board than merely the additional ceremonial or procedural functions involved in chairing meetings of the organisation. As a general proposition, such responsibilities might be summarised as a primary responsibility to oversee the proper functioning of a properly informed board or management committee.

In order to fulfil such special responsibilities, it may be useful for your organisation to develop a Chair Accountability Statement.

3. *Role of the Secretary

A board or management committee will sometimes appoint a Secretary to take general responsibility for certain administrative tasks which the board or management committee is required to carry out.

As well as bearing all the general responsibilities of being a member of a management committee or board there are several tasks for which the Secretary of an organisation has responsibility. Many of these are the regular practical administrative duties that will be done by staff where the organisation employs paid members of staff.

The tasks of the Secretary for committee or board meetings can include:

- convening meetings
- booking rooms
- dealing with correspondence
- preparing agendas for meetings (in consultation with the Chair)

- taking the minutes of meetings (although some committees may wish to appoint a minute secretary for this purpose)
- ensuring back-up information is available at meetings where the topics to be discussed require it
- care of the common seal

Note that, in respect of incorporated associations, the position of Secretary is not expressly referred to in the Associations Incorporations Act 1991 (ACT). Hence, all members of the management committee may be liable for any action taken or breach of its responsibilities under the Act.

4. Role of the Treasurer

As well as bearing all the general responsibilities of being a member of a committee or board, there are several tasks for which the Treasurer of an organisation has responsibility. Many of these are the regular practical administrative duties that will be done by staff where the organisation employs paid members of staff.

The Treasurer is responsible for providing financial transparency and accountability to the board/committee, and ensuring that processes and reporting requirements are met openly and accountably. A Treasurer also provides an assurance of the ongoing financial viability of the organisation to the board/committee.

The tasks of the Treasurer for committee or board meetings may include:

- Ensuring that the finances of the organisation are managed appropriately
- Making recommendations to the board about income and expenditure, investments and debts
- Keeping records of all incoming and outgoing payments
- Reviewing the annual profit and loss, and balance sheets
- Ensuring that the annual audit process is undertaken in a timely fashion according to legislative requirements
- Providing regular financial statements to the management committee/board with a capacity to explain any details
- Drawing up the annual budget in consultation with staff and the other executive members
- Ensuring that sufficient funds are available at all times to support the organisation's liabilities

Many of these tasks would be undertaken by staff in organisations where administration is carried out by staff, but the Treasurer is still responsible for ensuring that the necessary processes for reporting are in place and that sufficient funds are available. The Treasurer is also responsible for explaining any details in those reports that the committee/board might ask questions about.
